United Nations Headquarters Selects Rizzo Group as Lead Code Consultant

After a one year RFP process the United Nations Capital Program selected the Rizzo Group to head their code compliance initiative. The UN program is a multi year project that will culminate in a renovated Headquarters for the General Assembly, Secretariat and Conference buildings. The Rizzo Group's Jacqueline Woodley, a graduate architect, from the US, with an MBA, from the UK, will head the compliance project and interface with the Design and Construction team assembled by the United Nations. "We are honored to work on this seminal project and work with an international design and construction team that is the 'best of the best'." said Stephen Rizzo of the Rizzo Group LLC.

About Rizzo Group

*Rizzo Group is one of the leading building code, zoning, and land use consulting firms in New York City. Known for years as Charles Rizzo & Associates, and then 'CRA,' today, the firm is now called Rizzo Group to reflect the firm's team approach to building consulting. Their professional staff of architects, land use attorneys and engineers work with owners, development groups, design firms, and construction companies in order to obtain all necessary government approvals for any given structure.
